Yahoo mail attachment error

Last updated on April 2, 2020 at 09:27 AM by David Web . Yahoo! Mail is a popular online email-based service used by millions of people around the globe. If you have trouble downloading attachments in Yahoo! Mail, the issue might be from the configuration settings or security settings of the web browser. If your web browser is Internet Explorer, disabling the Add-ons from the Tools menu can help solve the problem, alternatively, there is also a solution for Chrome. Security issues can also contribute to this attachment problem. Configuring the security settings of the correct values will resolve this. Antivirus software and proxy firewall settings may also be responsible for the problem with Yahoo! Mail attachments. I was able to download any attachment from my Yahoo! Email. The requested URL message was not found on this server always pops up. By the way, what is a URL? This was only happening in the last two weeks. Before that, I never had any attachment opening issues. I'm not very savvy computers, so I don't know what to fix this problem. I still have the service openly called up Web and AOL: Could this be a possible cause? I would really appreciate anyone who could help me with that. I had the same problem and could not open attachments in Yahoo! email. I went to Microsoft and found a couple of solutions, depending on your browser: Internet Explorer go to Internet Explorer and disable the Add-ons. You can find this setting under Tools > Manage Add-ons. I disabled all of them and then checked my email with the opened attachment. I then came back and allowed them one at a time until I found the one that was causing the problem. I happened to be under MacAfee, the proxy, so everyone else could be allowed again. I leave the proxy one disabled and everything is good again. Chrome If you are using Chrome, you may have accidentally stopped Yahoo from downloading files (by closing a pop-up requires permission to download multiple files). You can easily check to see if this is the case for you: Open Chrome Settings > Privacy > Content Settings > Automatic Downloads Enable automatic downloads, and see if that solves your problems next time you try to download a PDF or other files from Yahoo mail. Note: We recommend that you close all your browser windows before re-trying to download your files. Good Luck! It gets frustrating when it doesn't work well. The problem we're focusing on today is related to Yahoo Mail attachments. The description of the issue is provided below. Steps to Fix Yahoo Mail Attachment Problems: The user is able to attach a file in his Yahoo mail and cannot even open the received attachment in the email. Solution: Here are different tips from different technology forums. Some of them worked for some users while others worked for other users. So you need to try what works for you. If you're using Internet Explorer to access Yahoo, change your browser. Yahoo does not include IE in its browser list support for some features might not work properly. Sign out of your Yahoo! Mail and sign in again. From the Gear icon drop-down to upper right, select 'Settings.' See if the first option of 'View emails' is selected. Scroll down and click the radio button before 'Basic' under Mail version heading. Click 'Save.' You can switch back to the standard version by clicking the link to the upper right. Another common question is the anti-virus conflict. Yahoo uses Norton to scan emails and attached files therein. If your system has any other anti-virus programs, it will create a conflict. So disable your anti-virus system temporarily and try attaching or file from Yahoo Mail. Go to your web browser settings and clear all cookies, current log-ins and web history. Close the web browser and re-open it to access Yahoo mail and see if the attachment is resolved. Attachments to files also failed due to their size as Yahoo allows up to 25MB in the file as an attachment. If your file size is larger than this, either divide the file into two or use free file sharing portals such as Dropbox. Also make sure that the attachment file name does not contain any special characters such as hashtag, underscore, dot, etc. Sometimes the attachment does not work in the paper icon. In such a case, just drag and drop the file into the message box to quickly attach it to the mail.
